

Haynes Benefits Welcomes New Principal

During our 20th Anniversary year, Haynes Benefits continues to grow with the addition of Marsha Woodward.

Marsha uses her twenty-four years of professional expertise to assist our clients with the design, drafting, implementation and administration of a variety of qualified and non-qualified health and welfare, apprenticeship, and retirement plans.

Marsha specializes in self-funded plans and Taft-Hartley multiemployer plans of all types, especially focusing on the fiduciary responsibilities associated with sponsoring and administering these plans.

Prior to becoming a Principal at Haynes Benefits, Marsha worked for both large and small law firms. She even maintained a successful solo practice when her entrepreneurial spirit beckoned.

Marsha began her undergraduate education at UMKC and earned her law degree from UMKC School of Law through the Early Entry Program. Marsha routinely conducts training seminars on fiduciary duties, HIPAA, and cybersecurity compliance. She annually presents on these and other topics at the Midwestern Apprenticeship & Training Coordinators Conference (“MACC”), with attendees from across eight states in the Midwest. She was recently honored with the MACC conference award for her dedication and expertise in furthering the development of apprenticeship programs.

Marsha lives in Liberty, Missouri, with her husband. They are adjusting to their newly empty nest, with their two children in college, and enjoy trying out new hobbies.

Please join us in welcoming her to the team!
